Applications of The 2017 APA Ethics Code to Organizational Consulting Psychology: Foundational Workshop

Organizational consultation requires that consulting psychologists make daily professional decisions involving ethics. Many of these decisions are complex and some require the wisdom of Solomon. This interactive foundational ethics workshop will provide participants an overview of 2010 APA Ethics Code and its applicability to consulting psychology, particularly as practiced in organizational contexts. The workshop is highly interactive and requires open and active participant discussion. (This foundational workshop or the equivalent is a pre-requisite for attending the advanced ethics workshop.)
